

We want great things for you.

A poster for a gala event. The background is a grayscale image of four hands, two at the top and two at the bottom, held together to form a protective frame. In the center, there is a white silhouette of a family consisting of a man, a woman, and two children holding hands. Text is overlaid on the poster: "Gala" in large red font, "February 26, 2010" in black, and "Premiere" in red. Below the family silhouette, the title "Unheard Voices" is written in large black and red font. At the bottom, there are two logos: the UDM Theatre Company logo on the left and the Homeless Action Network of Detroit (h.a.n.d.) logo on the right, which depicts a house with people inside.

The UDM Theatre Company is proud to announce a special benefit production of Unheard Voices. Unheard Voices, conceived and directed by retiring faculty member Yolanda Fleischer and written by the UDM Theatre Community, is a play that will address the issues and problems of the overwhelming epidemic of homelessness in Southeast Michigan. The stories behind people experiencing homelessness are as varied and surprising as the population. Our goal is to present the voices, lives, visions, hopes, dreams, pains and spirits of the local homeless community on stage for the audience to recognize and acknowledge through financial support.

All proceeds and donations raised will go to the Homeless Action Network of Detroit (H.A.N.D.), whose help has made this program possible.
